EMPLOYMENT: PUBLIC SERVICES

POLICE FORCE

There are lots of different routes to access a career with the police.

You can either join their 3-year degree apprenticeship at post-18 (Professional Policing Degree) or continue to university and join at post-graduate level having already obtained this degree.

As a police officer, you will be expected to take responsibility for developing your own skills, and ensuring that your fitness levels are maintained as the work can be demanding, both physically and mentally.

There is further information on joining the Police on the website below:

FIRE & RESCUE SERVICE

The process of joining the Fire Service varies according to where you live, and is quite complicated (see link to website below). It is a very rewarding career with a continuous training programme by attending lectures, exercises, practical training sessions and other forms of training to maintain competence levels.

As a fire officer, you will be expected to take responsibility for developing your own skills, and ensuring that your fitness levels are maintained as the work can be demanding, both physically and mentally.

As part of the application process, you will need to pass a fitness test.

NHS JOBS

There are a wide variety of post-18 routes into the NHS. This service is in high demand and extremely rewarding.

ARMED FORCES

There are wide variety of post-18 apprenticeships routes into the armed forces.

You can apply post-18 with your Level 3 qualification and receive further training once enrolled, however to progress to the higher ranks you will require a degree, so you many need to go to university dependent on your career goals.

For all of the forces options, as part of the application process you will need to pass a fitness test.

If you are interested in joining any of the armed forces, I would strongly recommend researching different apprenticeship pathways using the links below.
